— Mrs. Collista Morgan, Corres. —

As I write, the sun is beginning to dip its glow way downhill, to hide at last behind a mass of green trees on Patch Mountain. It has smiled all day and I went out to enjoy it. There were sounds of tinkling ice and squeaky snow, and the smell, like pungent spice from the rich, sweet evergreens. How grateful I was for my mind turned back to this date just nine years ago. At that time I was having heart surgery. Was the day outside then, like this? I cared not to recall but to look to THIS day. "Yesterday is already a dream and tomorrow is only a vision; a vision of home."

One thing I like to remember about it, is the day I met my room companion, who over these nine years has been a loved friend. The heart of a friend is a wonderful place, where one finds contentment and peace.

Down where the icicles grow, the slighting of the climbing sun brought out the texture of them; the sweeping curves of parallel lines and the lacy bands here and there.

"As a hesitating mortal, Underserving of so much, I behold ethereal beauty That has felt the Master's touch!"

—Betty Burton Choate
The bushes and tiny trees nearby looked like airy creatures caught napping, huddled together with white hairs streaming, while the grasses bent low and had hidden their heads in the snow. Nature has many scenes to exhibit.

I opened another curtain just up the road from the house. Seen from this spot in summer, trunks and branches and twigs are invisible but today with leaves stripped away, more is revealed and I could discern each individual clearly. The woods are more of a wild solitude in winter than in summer.

Looking over the farm fields just up the road, the best-kept grounds had relapsed to a state of nature, no bar-ways, boundaries, or gates. All were buried beneath the snow.

"The country in winter's a beautiful sight
When the sky is so blue o'er a hill of white.
There's a farm nestled down below the hill
And the countryside's wrapped in a quiet chill."
—Mildred L. Jarrell

How the snow so much resembles a fleece of wool. It rounds and and fills out the whole landscape, and makes it look smooth.

Going back toward home I noted how the grasses and shrubs by the pond rose up to mingle with drooping branches of trees.

There had been plenty of sunshine but the thermometer marked 10 above zero so I was glad of the welcome warmth within my house and an open book, where marched great thoughts of a story.

Verna Libby and Lenora Waterhouse of Falmouth, sisters of Doris Hayes, visited her from Wednesday until Sunday. Other visitors were her sons, Duane, Ardel, and Glenn.

Doris Hayes, Lenora and Verna and I met with Louie Coffin, Doris Slattery, Dorothy Ross, and Lyndell Farr at her home for dinner in West Paris on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat DiArenzo and daughter, Louise, returned to Springfield, Pa., on Sunday.

Robert Holt, Ricky and Jennie, Windsor, were with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonas Holt, on Sunday. Ann Holt, Bethel, also called.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonas Holt were in Boston on Tuesday to see an eye specialist. Son Robert took them.

Callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curtis were Irene Stevens, Eva Felton, Ryan Mason, and Kathy Curtis.

We have two thermometers and both registered 30° below zero on Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis had as callers Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Curtis, daughter Bonnie, her friend Duane and Albert's son, Fred, and friend, Brian, all of Buckfield.

Sent in by Viva Whitman:

What a chilly week this has been! I haven't gotten out into it unless it was necessary. The cold air still bothers my lungs so stay out of it all I can. Not too brave in my old age. Had to go to town on Monday and do the wash and Russell had to go renew his driver's license. He thought they took great pictures and what a change in the size of the license now. I think he better tie a pink ribbon onto it and hook it to him somewhere or he might lose it. It doesn't take the folks at the court house long to process a number of licenses in a hurry. Some of the folks getting their pictures taken thought the pictures weren't too appealing but had a good laugh about them anyway.

Was pleasantly surprised in the afternoon to have our niece Myrna White of Auburn call for a visit to see how we were getting along. She had been up to West Bethel for part of the day helping her daughter, Pamela Taylor. Pamela has a new month old baby as well as a very active 21 month old boy so has her hands full. We were glad to see Myrna and hope she comes this way again.

Went to Fryeburg on Tuesday to see what reports I'd get from the tests I'd had the week before. Didn't show anything to help much. I'm still coughing and guess I will be till I croak. Can't seem to get rid of it. Got back to Norway rather late so had lunch before going home. Pat Yates came down in the evening to visit for a while. Always glad to see any of the family at any time.

Been kind of lazy about getting up lately. Can't see any sense in burning lights so don't get up as early as I did. Did some sewing Wednesday and Russell took the sewing machine into his room and painted it. I'm allergic to paint so he went and painted it behind closed doors. It looks real nice now and doesn't take up as much room as my card table did. He put it outdoors for a day or two as long as the weather was good so it would have a good chance to air and get the smell worn off some before putting it into my room. It works good and that is what we had hoped for so all is well where that is concerned.

Had an appointment downtown on Thursday so while I was taking care of my business, Russell went shopping to get our groceries. It sure costs a lot to get anything now a days. Hope we find a way to have a small garden next summer. The canned and frozen foods sure help where the groceries are concerned. I know we are grateful for the goodies we put up last summer and fall.

Decided I'd better find energy enough to clean the home on Friday so started with the vacuum cleaner and went from one end of it to the other. Russell helped me by coming after me washing the floors. It sure makes things easier when we work together. Didn't get my carpet washed but did all the floors that don't have carpets. It sure looked good when we got through but I was rather tuckered out. In the afternoon, Russell called Mr. Ellis in West Sumner to see if he could do some work on his shoes and he thought he could so we went over but he had to go in town and didn't get back to do the work so it means another trip some day.

Didn't do too much Saturday forenoon as I was expecting to take care of my granddaughter in the afternoon while my daughter and husband went to North Conway. They brought her about 1:30 and didn't get back until about 7:45 in the evening so I had a good time with Courtney. She has been having one of these bad colds like all the rest of us and didn't feel as good as she might but was a good girl just the same.

We have been thinking of taking off the double windows and using the vacuum cleaner on the dehumidifier so decided Sunday was a good day to do it. Hope it will help the dehumidifier work more efficiently now. Russell found he has a problem at the bird feeding station the other day. He had put out seed and found that a squirrel had been at the feeder and emptied the seeds so there were none for the birds so today he took some metal and has tried to fix it so the squirrel won't get all the seeds. Do you suppose he'll have as bad a time as he did last year at Bethel? We'll just have to wait and see what happens. Even though the feeder isn't very near the home, Russell is feeding the birds and like to look out his window and see that they are enjoying the seeds he puts out.

He and the dog go for walks up and down the road to get their exercise and he is finding time to read his magazines, when he doesn't go to sleep. We were also remarking about the many patterns that Jack Frost had painted on the windows this morning also. What an artistic fellow?

Hope we get some warmer weather soon as I would like to go out a little but don't enjoy the cold weather as I used to. I'm glad each day brings Spring a little nearer. It will be here before we know it, I hope.

NOTES FROM Evans Notch

White Mountain National Forest

Cooperation is the key for management of the fishery resource on the Evans Notch Ranger District of the White Mountain National Forest. The Forest Service has responsibility for care of the habitat while the States of Maine and New Hampshire manage the populations of fish and wildlife. The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service provides assistance in managing both habitat and wildlife. All agencies join forces to improve both populations and habitat. A review of examples from 1983 illustrates this cooperation.

The Fish and Wildlife Service stocked 1,650 rainbow trout in Wild River, while the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife added 1,650 brook trout to Round, Broken Bridge and Crocker Ponds.

Creel census boxes were placed at access points to the ponds to collect angler use and harvest information. Such information is useful in determining fishing use and success. Eighty-four anglers reported an average trip length of three hours, 106 legal trout caught, and the largest fish caught ranged in length from 10-14.5" in length.

Surveys were made of Crocker Pond and Patte Mill Brook to obtain additional resource information for future management.

The State of Maine stocked Patte Mill Brook with 800-1,000 salmon. This marked the second stocking of salmon in the brook. This brook flows into the Crocker River, a primary salmon spawning tributary to Sebago Lake. Should the salmon fully utilize the entire Crocker River for spawning, it is hoped that the population of wild fish in Sebago Lake will increase and reduce the need of hatchery stocked fish. The Forest Service manages the water flow from Patte Mill impoundment to insure adequate flows for the salmon downstream while simultaneously providing for the impoundment.

Many of the smaller feeder streams on the District are important rearing areas for brook trout. To protect the high quality waters and productive soils, District personnel conduct their work according to standards that require the installation and maintenance of water control structures; proper design of roads and trails; and seeding, liming, and fertilizing of exposed soils to minimize erosion.

they have the authority to order public service in lieu of fines for indigents in OUI cases. The intention of this bill is to offer an alternative to putting persons in jail who cannot pay their fine.

The Committee on State Government held a public hearing, dealing with a bill that "grandfathers" existing local part-time and local reserve officers from the mandatory training requirements.

During the First Regular Session of the 111th Legislature, a bill was passed into law requiring a mandatory training session for a period of 33 1/2 weeks for all part-time officers. Due to the time involved in the training, existing local part-time officers were forced to give up their other employment or their job as a part-time officer. Hence, municipalities have been losing some of their experienced workers.

The opposition to this bill sees it as being necessary for all local part-time and reserve officers to go through the training period in order to be effective.

Another bill heard in the Judiciary Committee dealt with interviews by judges or bail commissioners.

The bill proposes that interviews by judges or bail commissioners need not be required. Instead, the determination of bail or release would be based on other information.

As the session progresses, there will be many more public hearings held. Anyone who is interested in attending these hearings is welcome. If you have a special viewpoint that you wish to express, please feel free to do so during the committee hearings.

Change of Address

As you probably know, the Maine Legislature has reapportioned all House and Senate Districts to reflect the shifting population which has occurred throughout the state over the past years. This action by the Legislature is required by the Maine and U. S. Constitutions.

Because of this action (which took place prior to my election last November), my home town of Woodstock has been removed from my existing legislative district. In order for me to continue serving as the State Representative from our areas, I have moved to Vernon Street in Bethel. Bethel is currently, and will remain, a part of my district, so the move will in no way affect my ability to continue serving you now and in the future.

If you want more information please contact me at home at 824-3290 or at 1-800-452-4601 while the Legislature is in session.

MOSES MASON HOUSE

The National Endowment for the Humanities. The exhibit consists of a kiosk with one of the sections focusing on Bethel, an inland Maine town during this period. The high security section focuses on ten representative men and women during the era 1783-1820. Dr. Moses Mason (1789-1866) was one of the ten selected and the Society has been pleased to loan artifacts associated with his life. The exhibit opened at the York Institute in Saco, and has traveled to the Bowdoin Museum of Art, the Bangor Historical Society and the Payson Gallery, Westbrook College. The sponsors of the exhibit were asked to extend it to the Colby Museum of Art for another three months. All loaning institutions including the Bethel Historical Society agreed to this extension. Another reason for continuing the exhibit was the possibility that a catalog would be published. Since this seemed to be a reality, the sponsors of the exhibit asked that instead of the small copy of the Chester Harding portrait of Dr. Mason being used at Colby that the Harding itself be loaned for the next three months. This request was referred to the Society's Museum Committee and to the Board of Trustees, who with the Director agreed that since it would be back in time for the summer season and with the fact that the Harding portrait would better represent the Doctor in the proposed catalog. Friends of the Society are urged to visit the Colby Museum of Art and see this outstanding exhibit which will be there until mid-April.

A century ago on Jan. 25, 1884, the "Oxford Advertiser" was reporting that the Elms Hotel "had been closed for a short time" and "the owners Messrs. Grover and

FAME VOTED RELEASE OF

$22,000 TO TOWN OF STONEHAM

The Finance Authority of Maine (FAME) voted to release $22,000 to the town of Stoneham for interest due on property taxes after hearing from Sen. Donald R. Twilchell of Norway, that failure to pay the interest placed the community in a precarious financial situation.

Twilchell, appearing before the FAME Board of Directors at the January meeting, explained that the town's 201 inhabitants—60% of whom live on fixed incomes—could not afford a property tax increase.

The $22,000 represents interest on unpaid property taxes owed by Evengreen Valley Resort since 1980. The Maine Guarantee Authority, the predecessor of FAME, assumed control of Evengreen Valley when the resort went bankrupt. The MGA had guaranteed a loan for the facility.

When FAME was created as the successor to the MGA it assumed the agency's liability.

Sharon Mitchell Lumer, Chief Executive Officer of FAME, noted FAME paid Stoneham approximately $75,000 this fall, the amount of taxes left unpaid by the resort and MGA. The $22,000 is interest on those property taxes. "The town of Stoneham and I certainly appreciate the fact that FAME paid the tax liability, and now has agreed to pay the interest due on those," Twilchell said. "The money will mean a great deal to the community."

Ms. Lumer told Sen. Twilchell and the Directors that a recent court case has been settled in FAME's favor, giving FAME clear title to the property. She said FAME will be sending requests for proposals to approximately 60 parties who have expressed an interest in purchasing the resort.

Ms. Lumer said she hopes to have the proposals reviewed by March and be able to make recommendations to the Board in April concerning any potential buyers.

ment replacement and building renovation needs. Budgeting for depreciation and capital equipment replacement has heretofore never been systematically addressed in our public services budget. It was possible to start planning for these needs after evaluating monies derived from 1983 expenditure savings and increased town revenues.

Transition Period Budget figures by section approved by the Selectmen to be raised by taxation are as follows: General Government, $35,498; Municipal Buildings, $7,

Burnham are negotiating with parties to let the house be occupied as in the past as a hotel, which is much needed, more especially in the summer season to accommodate summer boarders."

Dr. Francis Tuell was reported to be "moving slow on his new house" and "his brother (Gilbert) doing the inside finishing." A portable saw mill was being operated in Northwest Bethel sawing "the timber blown down by that terrific gale last fall." The Bethel House, owned and occupied by W. F. Lovejoy and Sons was reported to be "the model of neatness."

Mr. H. C. Andrews, successor to Pinkney Burnham was reported to be willing to give the person who brings the customer who will buy his carriage shops and tools $50 for the reference. Gould Academy, with "its very able principal and assistants" was reported to well worth "a more liberal patronage than it is receiving, more particularly the winter terms which are small, compared to what they ought to be."

The skating rink was reported to "still in full blast, and well patronized by young and old." Preparations were reported well underway for the reunion of Dr. True's students. The Doctor was reported in need of "constant care and encouragement" as he "feels the confinement very much after such a very active life as he has led."

Year balls were reported to be "the rage", business reported "brisk" with "very good sledding." William Wallace Mason "has forty oxen in the logging swamp, quite a team."

Local Banks Discuss Tax Payment Plan Offerings

The Manager reported at the Selectmen's meeting that at his request both local banks, Bethel Savings Bank and Casco Northern, are reviewing plans to establish tax clubs and/or passbook savings plans that would become payable at six-month tax payment intervals. Also, both banks are investigating on a one-time basis allowing Christmas Club members to withdraw funds from their Club to pay their May taxes. This is an excellent example of our community members, businesses and Town government working together to solve a problem.

The Board of Selectmen will meet in special workshop session Monday evening, Jan. 30, to complete work on the preparation of Town Meeting warrant articles and in regular session Monday evening, Feb. 6. Both meetings will take place in the Town Office Meeting Room.

A reminder that papers may still be taken out for the positions of Assessor, Selectman, and School Director. Two positions are open in each category. Since the last writing John T. Grover has taken out papers for Selectman.

Tri-Town members hope every one has kept warm during the recent cold spell. Please be patient if you have called for the ambulance, as it will take a few moments for the attendants on call to start up their cars. icy roads make the travelling slower for everyone, including an ambulance.

The Board of Directors accepted the resignation of Bruce Tyner as training officer for Tri Town. Sylvia Evans has been appointed in his place to fill the position until the elections in February. Bruce has been training officer since the summer of 1981. He has kept us all up to date with our skills, with our monthly training meetings. Thank you Bruce for a job well done.

Safety Tip of the Week:

The winter has been a cold one for everyone. Remember that the wind can add quite a bite to the effect of the lower temperatures. When reading a thermometer before going outside, think about the amount of wind outside. Dress very warmly if you are planning to be outside for any length of time when the wind is blowing and the temperature is low. Or plan shorter trips in the outdoors. When back inside, warm yourself slowly, including your insides with hot drinks if you are feeling the effects of the weather. Next week—Signs of Hypothermia.

We have had a very cold week and it will be cold for a few more days. In weather like this I am glad to be retired. I am a good fireman and I keep the wood boiler well stocked with hardwood chunks, and have a good book at hand so I am all set.

Robert Anderson Sr. and Mike Fucarle of Burlington, Mass., came to Anderson's trailer Tuesday and some one was one jump ahead of them and borrowed the kitchen table and had blankets laid out but they didn't decide to take them. Several suspects are lined up. They went smelt fishing and snowmobiling and left for home Wednesday evening.

The West Paris fire department was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oja Wednesday evening for a chimney fire.

Joseph Vatcher went to Danvers, Mass., on Thursday to visit his mother at the Liberty Pavilion nursing home. He stayed for a Mason meeting and supper in his home town as a nephew was taking a degree. It was where he joined the Lodge at Saugus years ago. Evaline kept the home fires burning.

The barn across from the North Paris Store will be taken down this week, weather permitting.

Low temperatures reported Sunday were —30° at David Luxton's and —32° at the Ruel Swain's.

Like the old barn did years ago. Looks good.

Mrs. Rhoda Vatcher went to Melrose, Mass., on Saturday to be with her sister, Phoebe, who has had major surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott visited the Vatchers Sunday afternoon to check on the smelters as he was joining a group Monday evening. Norman was in a good mood. Maybe he was looking for a nice smelt but he didn't offer to help Evaline clean the smelts so she didn't give him even one.

BETHEL HEART FUND CHAIRMAN NAMED

The American Heart Association, Maine Affiliate, has announced that Liz Smith has been named Chairman of the 1984 Heart Fund Drive in Bethel. As chairman of the campaign, Mrs. Smith will be coordinating the efforts of community volunteers, who will visit all residential areas during February to distribute heart-saving information and collect funds to support research, education and community service programs sponsored by the American Heart Association. The number one killer in the state and nation is heart disease. It should be noted that over a million Americans will die of heart attack and blood vessel diseases this year. This represents 52% of deaths from all causes in the country.

The public is urged to support the efforts of the Heart Fund Drive through volunteering to help with the house-to-house canvass and contributing generously when the Heart Fund representative calls. Please contact Mrs. Smith at 824-2586 if you wish to contribute a little time to this worthwhile cause.

WORKSHOP PLANNED FOR PARENTS ANONYMOUS

The Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Council in South Paris will sponsor a leaders workshop Feb. 3 for those in Oxford County interested in forming a Parents Anonymous chapter. Parents Anonymous is a national organization concerned with the identification, treatment and prevention of child abuse.

Oxford County is one of two counties in Maine that do not have a parent support group for those caught up in child abuse, said Lorna Pendleton of the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Council. A group started some years ago in Norway is no longer functioning.

The Workshop will be led by the Bangor Coordinator for Parents Anonymous of Maine, Carolyn L. Haney. The day-long program at the Chisholm School in Rumford will identify the need for Parents Anonymous in the region and will include a film and discussion of chapter organization.

Those interested in the well-being of children are invited to attend. Leadership with a background in Child Development and group dynamics is sought. The workshop is scheduled from 9:00 to 3:30. For further information call Lorna Pendleton, coordinator: 743-7716.
